CYRIL C. RICHARDSON COLLECTION*PROVENANCE NOTE

The Burke Library is grateful to the Cyril Charles Richardson Estate for the donation of his papers in February, 1997. The Collection was donated through the efforts of Professor David W. Lotz, the Estate's administrator and Washburn Professor of Church History at Union Theological Seminary. The donation included generous funds for the processing of the collection, with which Mr. Daniel Sokolow arranged and described the collection from February to June, 1997.

CYRIL C. RICHARDSON COLLECTION*SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE

The collection is divided into seven series, and three series have been further divided into subseries. Arrangement is alphabetical unless noted otherwise.

Size: 50 boxes; 23.5 linear feet

Inclusive Dates: 1930-1983

Series I, Correspondence, contains correspondence to and from Richardson and includes correspondents such as Harry Emerson Fosdick, Robert F. Handy, and others both within and outside Union Theological Seminary. Also included are several folders of subject correspondence, filed alphabetically. Seven boxes.

Series II, UTS Interoffice, consists of files taken from Richardson's office at UTS and includes committee materials and correspondence with Seminary president John C. Bennett. The bulk of the files are from Richardson's tenure as Dean and Director of Graduate Studies, and include memos and other official correspondence. Arrangement is chronological by school year. Eight boxes.

Series III, Writings, includes Richardson's writings as well as writings by others, and is divided into five subseries as follows:

Subseries A: Articles & Reviews, includes both published articles and drafts written by Richardson as well as reviews he wrote. The reviews are interfiled with the articles, and are arranged alphabetically by the author of the work reviewed. Six boxes.

Subseries B: Theses, consists of drafts and completed versions of Richardson's theses for the Th.D. and S.T.M. degrees, both earned at UTS. Two boxes.

Subseries C: Books, contains materials related to books written by Richardson including reviews of his books, correspondence, notes, and royalty statements. Also included are drafts for the sections of the 1949 version of the Bible contracted by Simon & Schuster sections of which were edited by Richardson (the Bible was apparently never published). Four boxes.

Subseries D: Various, includes writings by Richardson that do not seem to have been published. Included are bibliographies, essays, student papers, and notes. Some of these items may have been article drafts or sermon drafts, but are not specifically identified as such. Four boxes.

Subseries E: Writings by Others, consists of articles and essays by other authors, either sent to Richardson by the authors or collected by him. Two boxes.

Series IV, Sermons, Addresses, & Lectures, contains speeches and sermons delivered by Richardson, and is divided into two series:

Subseries A: Sermons & Addresses, consists of sermons delivered by Richardson. Also included are addresses at convocations, commencements, and other special events, arranged alphabetically by sermon title. Three boxes.

Subseries B: Lectures, contains lecture notes and scripts from individual lectures and courses in Church History and other seminars taught by Richardson. Seven boxes.

Series V, Subject Files, includes files on various subjects, divided into three subseries:

Subseries A: Sources, contains copies of primary source materials, mostly translated into English, used by Richardson in his research. One box.

Subseries B: Subject Files, contains files on different subjects, including seminars attended by Richardson, language course notes, and articles collected by him. Three boxes.

Subseries C: Biographical, includes biographical materials on Richardson, much of it collected by his wife Louise for a 1984 article in the National Cyclopaedia of American Biography. Included are lists of Richardson's publications, his UTS Biographical file, and selections of correspondence. One box.

Series VI, Louise Richardson, contains materials belonging to Louise Richardson, most of which is related to Cyril Richardson. Included is correspondence, financial materials, and clippings. One box.

Series VII, Legal and Oversize, contains legal size files from the other series. Each file is described in the contents listing with its series/subseries designation. One box.

NOTES

1) Approximately one-fifth of the Collection had been filed by either Richardson or his wife in a series of numbered folders. There was a guide to these folders that has since been lost, and the filing principles behind the series is no longer clear. To facilitate the use of the collection, the folders were refiled within the structure created by UTS Archives. The materials were refoldered in archival quality folders, and the old folders with the notes written on them have been photocopied and placed in a folder at the end of the collection in series VII, box 1.

2) Certain articles were also presented as sermons and lectures, but have been separated when they were obviously published. Users may find some duplication between the different series. For example, the published article, "Veritas, Unitas, Caritas" in Series 3A, Box 6 also appears as a lecture in Series 4B, box 5.

3) The collection included a number of photographs which have been added to the Union Theological Seminary Photograph Collection. See list appended to the finding aid for photograph descriptions and locations.

HISTORICAL NOTE

Cyril Charles Richardson was born on June 13, 1909 in London, England, the son of Charles W. and Kate B. Richardson. His father was managing director of Asquith and Lord, a mercantile company, based in Bombay, India, where he also served as Justice of the Peace. Both Richardson's parents died when he was a child and he and his sister and two brothers were raised by relatives in England.

Richardson was educated at the University School in Hastings, then was recruited by the Anglican Colonial & Continental Church Society, which arranged for his emigration to Canada. He graduated from the University of Saskatchewan with a B.A. in 1930, then earned a Licentiate of Theology from the Society's Emmanuel College in Saskatoon in 1931. Richardson emigrated to the United States (he was naturalized as a U.S. citizen in 1940) in 1931 to continue his education at Union Theological Seminary, where he studied church history, concentrating on the early years of the Christian church. He earned his S.T.M. degree in 1932, writing his thesis on a comparative study of Tertullian and Origen and his Th.D. degree in 1934, writing on Ignatius, Bishop of Antioch.

Richardson also studied overseas, spending time in both Germany and France, studying with Karl Barth and Walter Bauer. In 1934, Richardson was ordained Deacon and Priest in the Episcopal church in New Hampshire, and eventually transferred into the New York diocese (1950).

Richardson's association with Union Theological Seminary continued following his graduation when he was appointed as Instructor of Church History in 1934. He moved steadily up the ranks of the faculty, and in 1949 Richardson was appointed the Seminary's sixth Washburn Professor of Church History, a position first created in 1855 and a post he held until 1974, when he retired and became Professor Emeritus. He was also Union's first Union Scholar, a position created by the Seminary's Board of Directors in 1974.

In addition to his teaching, Richardson served the Seminary in several administrative posts. He served two years as Acting Librarian (1950-51), then moved to the office of Graduate Studies, where he acted as Acting Director of Graduate Studies (1952-53), Director, and eventually Dean of Graduate Studies. Richardson expanded the Th.D. program as well as the joint Ph.D. program with Columbia, to the point where the Seminary's Doctoral program was rated among the top three seminaries in the country.

Richardson was a prolific author, writing six monographs and editing or collaborating on a dozen more. He wrote more than 100 articles over forty-five years, on subjects as varied as liturgical art to women in the church. Richardson was regularly called on as a reviewer, writing for many of the best known journals of religion. He also delivered numerous sermons and lectures around the country, speaking most frequently at UTS, Emmanuel College, and the Mohonk Church in upstate New York.

Richardson was married in 1945 to Louise Shattuck, a registered nurse he met in 1943 when they were both recuperating from bouts of tuberculosis. An avid outdoorsman, Richardson enjoyed hiking and the study of mushrooms. Richardson died of a heart attack in New York on November 16, 1976, at the age of 67.
